brands no longer advertise on TV - TV channels are reducing content investment - video games outperform film in profitability - films overspend on marketing - creators face fewer monetization paths - AI automates creative labour - money is prioritized over meaning - global homogenization produces creative myopia - capital is wasted on unvalidated projects -

capital risk is deployed after creative risk, not before it

FANS BACK IP by BUYING MERCH, STREAMLINING VALIDATION into DISTRIBUTION.

AFTER "PRODUCTS" and "SERVICES" CAME "EXPERIENCES", then "CREATOR", "OWNERSHIP" and "TRANSFORMATION" ECONOMIES. ours IS CALLED "THE PORTAL ECONOMY", SELLING OBJECTS that ARE PART of the STORY.
